The Chamber banquet Tuesday night was the usual packed house. A welcome innovation came in the entertainment provided by the Heart O' Texas Barbershoppers. Their harmony interspersed with some jokes, rang in the Methodist Fellowship Hall.

A fine person won the McCullin Award. Miss Mildred Thornton's efforts in behalf of the community for that new library abuilding on E. Fourth St. is a prime example of hee work for civic betterment.

That drive took more than four years and a lot of effort. But it is being built. And we believe the cooperation in the fund raising is exemplary for its exceptional breadth in Cameron's first all-new public building except schools since a new courthouse in 1891.

Among many accomplishments, this is one of Miss Thornton's finest.

106-106-106

There is a tendency not to want breadth in daily life, in our opinion. There is a tendency to want to take a brief survey, like some cram course prior to an entrance exam, then choose a niche or a rut which is comfortable. But like the student who crams rather than studies, this is a pretty sure way to flunk the course.

A library and a school and a church, thoughtfully directed, are the foundation for a group of people, since they contain a sense of direction for leadership and basis for understanding direction by the follower.

But none functions to its full role until it sees the perspective of this complicated society, and how it touches the smallest group, the largest city, the most modest of individuals.

This is our opinion based on a conviction that one must not only continue to live a life, but to think through it. If we accept what seems automated inevitability, we become longer-lived vegetables.

Members of Modern Dance Group, Texas Women's University in "Westminister Carol" from Dance In Religion program will be presented at 3 p.m. Sunday, March 27, in the Methodist Fellowship Hall, Cameron. The Modern Dance Group and University Modern Choir will interpret three religious festivals, Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter, in dance and song. Sponsoring the Cameron performance are The First Methodist Church, All Saints Episcopal Church, The Three Arts Club and TWU Alumnae.

Your Herald Adds 'Diplomatic Pouch'

It is a group of letters from citizens and State Department replies, somewhat like a "Letters to the Editor" department.

The Herald feels that foreign policy is so broad, so complicated and, at times, so controversial, the pro and cons of policy in Vietnam, or Western Europe or wherever should better be understood. This column, furnished by the State Department, might give some insight into the questions and answers of some 200,000 letters a year on foreign policy.

This newspaper hopes perhaps the column, on experimental basis will provoke greater interest in foreign affairs among the grass roots of the Milam area.

300 Hear Jernigan As Fuchs Installed

TIBBY the Magician will present his exciting show at 7:30 p.m. Friday, March 11, at Simon-George Hall. The professional magic show with Tibby's famous levitation act is sponsored by the Cameron Fire Department. Tickets are on sale locally from members of the Volunteer Fire Department.

MISS THORNTON NAMED McCULLIN AWARD WINNER

Monroe Fuchs Tuesday night was installed president of the Cameron Chamber of Commerce and Miss Mildred Thornton was named the McCullin Citizenship winner as Cameron's outstanding citizen at the annual Chamber banquet.

A crowd of more than 300 at Methodist Fellowship Hall heard Alf Jernigan, assistant general manager of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce stress community unity and planning as essentials for Cameron's continued progress.

He was introduced by Chamber Vice President Gene Smitherman.

Jernigan noted that efforts for new industry should be balanced with work for improved schools, streets, recreational facilities and modern shopping areas.

"Prospective industries judge an area by what they see and if the community does not look progressive in physical facilities the impression will not be good," he said.

NEW PLAQUES

John B. Henderson Jr., Chamber 1st vice president, introduced guests and presented plaques to past McCullin Award winners, Mrs. Dana Monroe, Francis Cox, Eugene Smitherman and Richard Moseley.

Fuchs outlined the Chamber program for the coming year and urged support of the Industrial Foundation Fund Drive scheduled to open May 1. He also expressed backing of the Chamber for proposed improvements at St. Edward Hospital, and recognized the part agriculture plays in the economy of Cameron.

Forrest Sapp reported on Chamber activities and accomplishments during the past year and recognized officers and directors who served with him.

Miss Thornton was cited for her leadership in the drive for new library facilities in Cameron and for her work on various progressive projects in the city. Accepting in her absence was Mrs. Frank Luecke, of Cameron.

LIBRARY WORK

She has served as president of the Cameron Library Board the past year when plans were completed for the new 4,000 square foot masonry building following a successful $40,000 drive and approval of $40,000 in matching Federal and State funds.

She is a director of the Chamber of Commerce and serves on the City Planning Board.

She worked on plans for Cameron's Town Meeting and served on the Tourism and Civic Improvement committees of the Chamber. She has worked with numerous charitable organizations and is a member of the PTA, Business and Professional Women's Club, History Club and Delphian Club.

Miss Thornton is administrator of the Cox Estate.

Committee chairmen introduced were: Ed Laywell, agriculture; Miss Thornton, Civic Improvement; James Camp, Educa-

Full House Hears Cen-Tex Concert

About 350 Cameron and Milam area residents Monday night heard the hour-long concert of the Central Texas Symphony Orchestra.

Dr. James T. Luck, conductor and director of instrumental music at Mary Hardin-Baylor college, introduced the four-part program.

The 50-piece orchestra played a balanced program including: "Peachtree Promenade", "Toccatta", a medley from "the Sound of Music" and Giannini's "Symphony No. 2."

Crowd response was enthusiastic to each of the orchestra's renditions. A reception for orchestra personnel and members of Cameron 3 Arts Club, sponsoring study club, followed the concert.

Mrs. Robert Ellett, Club president, Mrs. Stewart Perkins, ticket chairman, and Mrs. Carroll Green and Mrs. A. H. Baskin, arrangements co-chairmen, were introduced.

The turnout from Cameron, Rockdale, Thorndale and other Milam area residents was all but a sell out. About 10 people were standing in the rear of the auditorium when the concert started.

It was believed the first symphony concert in Cameron in recent history.

Dr. Luck and leaders of the Cen-Tex symphonic group expressed sincere appreciation for the Cameron crowd. It was the second concert in as many days as the symphony played its first concert Sunday afternoon in Temple.

Scouts from Rockdale and Cameron Brownie and Girl Scout troops attended in groups, 40 from Rockdale among about 80 Rockdale visitors.

Miss Christy Clark of Cameron, and Mrs. Bland Davis, of Rockdale, are in the symphony.

Large branches of foilage decorated the backdrop for the orchestra. Proceeds from the concert will be given to the Central Texas Symphony Orchestra Association to defray orchestra expenses and purchase music and bandstands.

COUNCIL VOTES TO CLOSE RR CROSS AT MAIN

The City Council Tuesday adopted a resolution closing to vehicular traffic the East Main St. crossing of Santa Fe Railroad.

With Mayor Pro tem Starrett Hickman presiding, the Council approved the resolution closing the crossing to all but foot traffic after both the railroad and residents east of the crossing agreed to the action.

Mayor Bassel Wilson is still convalescing from a leg ailment.

City Secretary Buddy Fuller told The Herald the City has framed a certificate certifying federal approval of a Workable Program from the Department of Housing and Urban Development, Region V, Fort Worth.

Incumbents Draw No Opponents As Deadline Closes

Incumbents in city council and school board positions went unopposed as no new additional candidates filed by the deadlines last week.

Mayor Bassel Wilson and Councilmen Lester Turner and Robert Wells are unopposed in respective city positions to be voted on April 5.

And incumbents Lane Horstmann and Buster Griffin are unopposed in the two school board positions to be voted on April 2.

Wilson is completing his second but nonconsecutive term. He was elected to one term in 1958, then lost in 1960 to Coleman Duncum who served two terms. And Mayor Wilson was elected to a second term in 1964.

Wells is running for his first elected term. Turner is seeking his second.

Griffin is seeking for a third term, while Horstmann seeks his first elective term. He was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Alton Fuchs, who resigned last year.

OJT Teacher Burned In Home Blaze Sat.

D. S. Poole, vocational agriculture teacher at O. J. Thomas School, was seriously burned in a fire at his home Saturday.

Cameron Fire Department answered the alarm at 802 N. Madison about 6:45 p.m. Saturday, but found the blaze had been brought under control by Poole's son and a neighbor, Larry Pinchback. Poole was rushed to a Cameron hospital where he received emergency treatment for burns and was then transferred to McCloskey Hospital, Temple. His condition is reported improved.

Fire Marshal John Andres said Poole had been laying linoleum in the bathroom of his house when the hot water heater switched on igniting the highly inflamable paste compound.

Voter Registration Light In County; No FBI Monitors

Only 34 Milam County voters have registered in the special March 3-17 voter registration authorized by the Legislature following Federal court ruling against the state poll tax.

County Tax Assessor-Collector Valter White said only 30 voters had registered at the courthouse and 4 at the Rockdale substation.

White said Milam County had not been monitored by the FBI as had some other tax offices in Central Texas. Tax assessors in McLennan, Robertson, Limestone and Freestone Counties reported a routine check by Waco-based FBI agents this week.

Voter registration was said to be slow throughout the state. White estimated between 1,000 and 1,500 potential voters that had not paid a county poll tax could register here under the new system.

On Display At City Hall

Workable Plan Certified

A certificate of approval for Cameron's workable program is on display at City Hall following its receipt by city officials last week.

A letter from W. W. Collins, regional administrator of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, Fort Worth, to Mayor Bassel Wilson accompanied the certificate.

Collins said the workable plan has approval of the DH&UD for one year beginning March 1, 1966. The plan is renewable at the end of each year.

Collins noted: "Your approved Workable Program constitutes a plan for the utilization of public and private resources to eliminate and prevent slums and blight in your community. The City is to be recommended for initiating such a worthy endeavor.'

The letter and certificate, now framed, was preceded last Wednesday by a telegram from Senator Ralph Yarborough, D-Texas, acknowledging the DH&UD approval and saying:

"This makes Cameron eligible for certain aid such as low-rent public housing, urban renewal and certain FHA mortgage insurance programs."

Mayor Wilson Wednesday told The Herald the workable program approval would make Cameron eligible for federal funds for: Title I Urban Renewal aid, low-rent public housing aid, mortgage and home improvement loan insurance, mortgage insurance and federal grants in aid.

The certification does not constitute approval of a specific Federal aid, according to a release from the DH&UD. It said in part: "Once the Workable Program" is certified the community is eligible to apply for any of the Federal aids for which it is a prerequisite. The community must show reasonable progress each year under its Workable Program in order to obtain recertification and to remain eligible for these Federal Aids."

Cameron reported, according to a March 3 DH&UD release:

Plans for updating the City's building; plumbing and electrical codes as well as housing and fire prevention codes;

Preparation underway of a comperhensive community plan and neighborhood analysis.

Assurance of relocation assistance to any families displaced by governmental action;

The functioning of a citizens advisory committee, including a minority group housing committee, for some time.

5 Charged, One Suspect Sought

One man, 20, has been filed on, another about 23 is being sought and four juveniles have been charged in connection with recent burglaries in the Cameron area.

Charges of burglary have been filed against Lloyd Seaton, 20, of Burleson St. in connection with burglaries during the past two weeks.

Sheriff Carl Black told The Herald Tuesday he is seeking a 23-year-old man in connection with break-ins at Hudson TV & Appliance, Tex Miller's Sandwich Shop, Davis Store in Sharp, and Cameron Country Club.

Also charged in County Court last week were four Cameron youths, all 18 or under, in connection with burglary.

Sheriff Black has recovered $1,865 in cash, a radio identified as being one taken from Hudson's the night of February 25, rifle shotgun shells, fishing reels and other items from Davis Store as well as some jackets and pocketknives.

Hudson's TV was burglarized of an estimated $3,500 in cash and some radios the night of February 25. A safe was broken and the money taken.

During the same period, losses of $21 at Cameron Country Club, $72.65 at Miller's Sandwich Shop and various merchandise at Davis Store were reported.

One Recovering, 3 Treated After Two-Car Wreck

George McKay is in St. Edward Hospital, Cameron, following a two car accident on FM Road 2269 Saturday in which four were injured.

John Hrachovy, 58, of Route 2, Buckholts, received cuts when his 1964 Ford pickup and a 1955 Chevrolet driven by Billy John Simmons, 24, of Cameron, were in collision on the Yarrellton Road about 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

Simmons and Hrachovy were treated for cuts at St. Edward Hospital and released. Millard Mowdy Jr. of Route 2, Buckholts, a passenger in the Simmons car, was treated for head injuries at St. Edward Hospital and released Sunday.

McKay, also a passenger in the Simmons car, was reported in good condition Wednesday by hospital officials. He also suffered head injuries.

Highway Patrolman Leroy Broadus said both cars were traveling toward Cameron and the collision occurred when Hrachovy attempted a left turn as the Simmons auto pulled out to pass him.

Broadus said both vehicles were heavily damaged.

Fair, Tours At Public Schools

Cameron Public Schools this week are observing Public Schools Week with guided tours, open house and a science fair.

Guided tours of the Ben Milam, Ada Henderson, Yoe High and O. J. Thomas schools will be held for the public today (Thursday) at 1, 1:30, 2 and 2:30 p.m. in each building. An open house from 7 to 9 p.m. tonight will give the public an opportunity to see the new equipment added to the schools this year, and will provide a time for parents to visit their children's teachers and discuss their work.

The Yoe High Science Fair will be open to the public from 7 to 9 p.m. tonight in the Yoe gymnasium. Mrs. Hubert Nance, co-chairman of the Fair with Fred Johns, said they expected to have about 100 entries in the Fair this year.

Mrs. Nance said the top three winners in each division will compete in the Regional Science Fair in Waco to be held in April. Regional Fair winners will go on to compete in the national show in May.

Public school students will have a holiday Friday while teachers attend a TSTA workshop in Waco.

Supt. D. R. Dodson said, "Public Schools Week is an appropriate time for giving each pupil and each citizen who visits in the schools better understanding of the vitally important responsibility which rests upon the public schools in a country governed by and for the people."

The observance was launched in 1950 to advance the general interest of the public schools. In the ensuing years, Public Schools Week has become a tradition in Texas. It has won the wholehearted support of the school authorities and the cooperation of countless individuals and organizations, Supt. Dodson said.

New reading and visual aids equipment, language laboratory and science facilities have added interest to the tours and open house this year.

Outdoors In Texas

By Vern Sanford

Many shooters make the mistake of taking their trusty rifles to gunsmiths and asking them to "sight 'em in." Then they head afield without further ado and wonder why the miss easy shots at deer.

This idea of having a gunsmith doing the job for you is okay. But you should test the rifle yourself, to see if you and the gunsmith both see alike.

On the surface that statement might seem ridiculous. But actually, different people do see in a different way. They hold the rifles different, therefore they get different sight patterns.

Very seldom can one man zero in a rifle to hit in the center of the bull's-eye at 100 yards and another duplicate the feat with the same rifle.

For this reason, it pays to "sight in" your own rifle. This isn't as difficult as you would first imagine. In fact, if done correctly, it can be quite simple.

Most common mistake is for someone to set up a piece of cardboard, get back 100 or 200 yards and start blazing away. At this distance any error in sight adjustment will be magnified, and with a new sight you'll be lucky to hit the cardboard, even if it is of extremely large size. This kind of hapchance sighting only makes ammunition manufactors happy.

There is a much easier way.

Suppose you've just installed a new scope sight on your rifle. You want to sight it in, so here's how to do it, the quick and easy way.

First, to make sure you're steady and solid, get set up where you have a good rest for shooting. Then if possible, remove the bolt from your rifle, steady it on a rest and bore sight the rifle at a chunk of cardboard 25 yards away.

When you get the bore lined up, raise your sight and look in the scope. Adjust it until the crosshairs are on the target. This way you'll be reasonably sure of putting your first shot on the paper and you can work from there.

But even if you're shooting something like a lever-action gun where bore sighting isn't possible, at a range of 25 yards you're more than likely to hit the cardboard anyway. Once you've established your first shot you're in business.

Scope sights have adjustments for elevation and windage. The first is to move the bullet placement either up or down, and the other either left or right.

These adjustments are graduated in minutes of angle, or fractions thereof. Some have "click" adjustments while some do not.

A minute of angle has a value of one-half inch at 50 yards, one-fourth inch at 25 yards.

Suppose your rifle is shooting an inch high and an inch to the right. Four clicks on both adjustments should move your aim right to the bull's eye.

Just remember, if your adjustment moves one minute of angle with each click, you must adjust the dial four clicks to move the bullet placement one inch.

If each click is only one half minute of angle, then it would require eight clicks to move it an inch. And so forth.

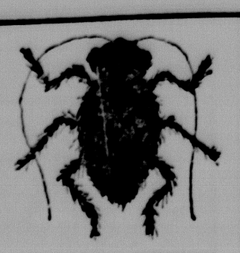

Once you've established your aim at 25 yards, or directly in the black or bull's-eyye of the target, you're ready to determine where the bullet will strike at longer ranges.

Versatile Dust Developed by Scientists

Researchers have discovered a new method of protecting houses and apartments against roaches and a hundred other insects for the lifetime of the occupants.

Professors of entomology said that a new dust called "Amorphous Silica Gel" has been developed that is harmless to humans and animals, but lethal to termites, cockroaches, silverfish and a hundred other insects. The dust literally dries the insects to death by removing a protective wax on their bodies and causing death through evaporation of body moisture.

Once applied, it can last indefinitely without losing it's ability to kill pests.

Delphian Club Cites Federation Day At Dinner Meeting Here

The Delphian Club observed its annual Federation Day and Texas Independence with a dinner in the Western Room of the Texas Cafe on Tuesday evening, March 1.

Long tables arranged in U-shape were decorated with a row of Texas flags down the center and menu cards carrying out the emblems and colors. An arrangement of Texas bluebonnets centered the speaker's table.

Each member invited one guest and husbands were invited to attend. Mr. and Mrs. Reed Slay of Hillsboro were special guests.

The Rev. Eugene Strickland gave the invocation.

Mrs. R. G. Grabein introduced Mrs. Clay, president of Capitol District TFWC, who gave a concise history of the past 75 years of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, which is celebrating its "Diamond Jubilee" this year.

Mrs. Slay spoke on "Unity and Diversity," which she says is federation. Many successful and noted projects were mentioned. One of special interest was that a great number of the nation's libraries have been entirely constructed or promoted through the efforts of federated women's clubs.

Guests present, other than those mentioned above, were Miss Nell Mays, Rev. J. E. Lafferty, Dr. Herman Brown, Mr. E. A. Perrin, Mr. Leland Green, Mr. Frank Reid, Mr. Morris Eplen, Mr. Albert McCullin, Mr. J. A. Bowling, Mr. E. J. Barkes and Mr. Niley Smith.

The arrangement committee and hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Niley Smith, Mrs. E. J. Barkes and Mrs. William Freeman.

OUTDOOR TIPS

What you must remember is that a bullet travels in a trajectory. Thus it will bisect a straight line out from the muzzle twice, once as it starts up on its trajectory and again when it comes down. If this first intersection is at 25 yards, the bullet will be in the bull's-eye again somewhere out where it curves down and bisects the line again.

With an ordinary .22 rimfire rifle, for instance, the bullet will cross at 25 yards and again at 60 yards. In firing fast-shooting center-fire rifles, with flatter trajectory, the second point of intersection will be much farther out.

Cameron Delegation To Attend 1st Governor's Library Conclave

Final program plans for the First Texas Governor's Conference on Libraries, March 23 in Austin, were announced today by State Librarian and Conference Coordinator, Dorman H. Winfrey.

A delegation from Cameron is being organized to attend, according to Miss Mildred Thornton, Cameron Library Board president.

Gov. John Connally will deliver the keynote address on the Conference theme, "Library Excellence: Today's Necessity." Robert Vosper, UCLA librarian, and president of the American Library Association, will speak on "Library Support, A Shared Responsibility." As head of the nation's number one professional organization for librarians, he maintains a heavy speaking schedule and will leave Austin immediately after the Conference for Honolulu.

Vosper will be introduced by the president of the Texas Library Association, Heartsill Young. C. Stanley Banks Sr., chairman, Texas Library and Historical Commission, will deliver the official welcome.

Chancellor Harry Ransom of The University of Texas will discuss "Library Development in Texas" as part of the morning program.

A luncheon will feature an address by Mrs. Weldon Lynch, Oakdale, La., nationally-known lecturer on library problems, and past president of the American Library Trustee Association. Her topic will be "Libraries Need Citizen Support." Mrs. Lillian Moore Bradshaw, director of the Dallas Public Library, and immediate past president of the Texas Library Association, will preside at the luncheon.

The afternoon session will hear an address on "Library Financial Sources," by Price Daniel, Liberty, former governor, and member of the Texas Library and Historical Commission. James L. Love, Diboll, past president of Friends of Texas Libraries and the Texas Library Trustee Association, will preside.

Invocations will be delivered by The Most Reverend Louis J. Reicher, Bishop of the Diocese of Austin, and Dr. Edmund Heinsohn, Minister Emeritus, University Methodist Church, Austin.

Conference participants will have an opportunity to raise individual problems in one-hour discussion groups under the general chairmanship of H. Kenneth Jackson, director, Field Services Division, Texas State Library. Fifty laymen and 50 professional librarians will be co-leaders of the groups.

Gov. Connally will greet the invited participants at the 4 p.m. reception, concluding the one-day meeting.

More than 1,500 Texas civic leaders, who have received formal invitations, will attend the Conference, called to discuss improving Texas library service. The state now ranks 37th in the nation in per capita public library expenditure, and has 28 counties with no public library service.

Spray-On Insulation Is Made From Corn

COLLEGE STATION

Starch from a single bushel of corn can be used to make enough polyether for an inch-thick layer of lightweight foam that will insulate the exterior walls of a 50-by-25-foot house, says Mrs. Jane Berry, Texas A&M University Extension housing-home furnishings specialist.

This spray-on insulation from corn is now finding outlets for insulating dwellings, commercial buildings, and some types of equipment.

Starch-based polyether, developed originally in 1963 by scientists with the Agricultural Research Service, is an industrial raw material that utilizes a major farm commodity, Mrs. Berry explains. When it is sprayed in place as a foam-around pipes and between wall studding, for example-it adheres to most any surface and dries as a rigid layer of insulation molded to the contour of the surface.

Cost of the spray-on polyether is about 15 cents a pound when it is produced in a plant that turns our approximately 10 million pounds a year. This volume of polyether would require the starch from 100,000 bushels of corn.

Commercial urethane foams like that which made thin-wall refrigerators possible are now finding wide outlets as an insulation material. Rigid urethane foam is also being used for buoyancy in boats and life preservers.

Mrs. Berry adds that the new starch-based polyether foam has both flame and humidity resistance and strength that compares favorably with commercially available forms.

Father Daughter Dinner To Climax Local Girl Scout Week Activities

Girl Scouts are observing the 54th anniversary of the organization's founding this week and local scouts will climax the celebration with a Father-Daughter banquet Saturday.

About 225 girl scouts, fathers and special guests are expected for the dinner and program at 7 p.m. in the Methodist Fellowship Hall, according to Mrs. W. C. Wallace, neighborhood chairman.

Theme for the dinner will be "Around the World in 66 Ways". A special annual observance will be the presentation of gifts to the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund.

Local scouts also observed Girl Scout Week by attending the Centennial performance of the Central Texas Symphony.

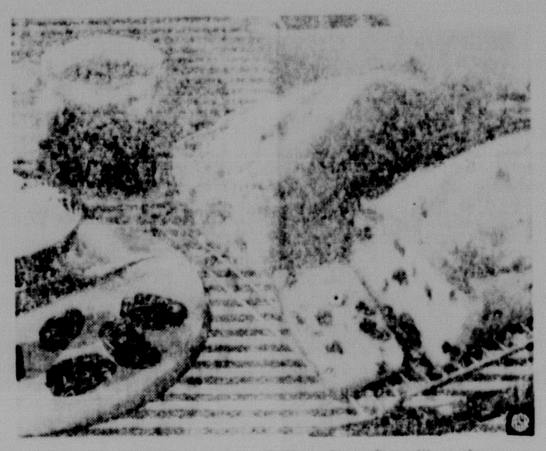

Cameron Scouts are members of the Lone Star Girl Scout Council. Almost 7,000 Girl Scouts are active in the Council, which has headquarters in Waco and includes 15 counties in south central Texas. Each year, each troop in the Council will decide on a community effort, a "project in action," which must be fulfilled by even before September 1.

Each day during Girl Scout week has a special emphasis for some phase of Scouting. Starting Monday with homemaking, the other days included citizenship, health and safety, friendship and arts. Saturday will end the observance with an "out-of-doors" day.

Date Bread for Snacks and Meals

Bake several loaves of "South Seas Date Bread" at the same time because it's the kind of cake-like bread that improves on standing and it will always be ready for unexpected guests, between-meal snacks and lunches.

Sun-mellowed fresh dates from California's desert and toasted coconut provide refreshing moistness and delicate flavor in this easy-to-do, one-egg recipe. In addition to fresh California dates in produce departments of stores, pitted fresh dates are now found in packages on grocery shelves to simplify baking chores and to dress up desserts, salads and entrees. Eaten out-of-hand, the fruit is also an energy-building lunch box treat.

South Seas Date Bread

1 cup shredded coconut
1 cup fresh California dates
3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 cup sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder
1½ teaspoons salt
1½ cups milk
1 large egg
1 teaspoon vanilla

Toast coconut in shallow pan in 375-degree (moderately hot) oven about 8 to 10 minutes, stirring frequently to insure an even, golden color. Cool. Cut dates into small pieces. Sift flour, sugar, baking powder and salt together into a mixing bowl. Add coconut, milk, egg and vanilla; stir vigorously until blended. Stir in dates. Turn into a greased and floured loaf pan (10 x 5 x 3 inches). Bake in 350 degree (moderate) oven about 1 hour and 10 minutes. Cool before storing. Makes 1 loaf.

Increased Payroll Taxes Provide New SS Funds

By Jack Calvert
District Manager

Social Security Administration

The many improvements and benefit increases in the 1965 amendments to the social security law will naturally raise the cost of the program. Congress provided in these amendments for financing the additional costs. They did this by adjusting the contribution tax rate for the existing program and establishing a new tax contribution to finance the new hospital insurance program. They also raised the maximum amount of earnings and self-employment income on which contributions are paid from $4800 to $6,600 per year, beginning next year, 1966.

The tax rate for the existing old-age, survivors, and disability insurance program for employees and employers will be adjusted to 3.85 percent beginning in 1966. This tax rate is less than the rate that was already set in the old law for 1966, which was 4.125 percent, which was found to be slightly more than the amount required at that time to pay for all the benefits and the administrative costs.

For example, a worker who has been making $3,600 a year will pay $138.60 in social security taxes on his income. If the law had not been changed, he would have paid $148.34 for the same old-age, survivors, and disability insurance protection.

A worker who has been making $4,800 a year will pay only $184.80 social security taxes in 1966 under the new law, but he would have paid a total of $198.00 in social security taxes if the law had not been changed. However, those persons who have been earning over $4,800 a year will pay more social security taxes because they will begin paying on their earnings over $4,800. For the same amount of earnings of $4,800 or under, there will be a tax reduction.

This employee tax rate will increase to 3.9 percent in 1967 and will increase twice more, to 4.4 percent beginning in 1969 and to 4.85 percent in 1973. This is the maximum tax rate for the old-age, survivors, and disability insurance protection.

Self-employed persons will contribute taxes based on a rate of 5.8 percent starting in 1966 for the old-age, survivors, and disability insurance program. This will increase to 5.9 percent in 1967, to 6.6 percent in 1969, and to 7 percent in 1973.

This self-employment tax rate also represents a reduction in the amount of taxes to be paid by the self-employed for old-age, survivors, and disability insurance from what was scheduled in the old law. Before the change, the tax rate for the self-employed was scheduled to go to 6.2 percent in 1966 and to 6.9 percent for 1968 and thereafter.

Financing of the hospital insurance program has been kept separate from that of the already existing social security program. This was done by establishing a separate contribution tax schedule with the funds raised going into a separate trust fund.

Employees,employers, and self-employed people will all pay the same tax rate for the hospital insurance program. Initially, starting next year, 1966, the rate will be .35 percent for all three groups Increases in this rate are scheduled to insure continued proper financing. The rate goes to .5 percent in 1967, to .55 percent in 1973, to .6 percent in 1976, to .7 percent in 1980 and finally to .8 percent in the year 1987.

This tax rate for next year will mean that a worker or self-employed person who has yearly earnings of $3,650 will pay a hospital insurance tax of $12.30. If you earn $4,800 yearly, your tax for hospital insurance will amount to $16.80 for the year.

If you have any questions, or would like to have a leaflet explaining this and the other changes made this year in the social security law, write, visit, or telephone the Temple social security district office and ask for free Leaflet Number 1. Tax Returns For Working Students Working students got word today on how to fulfill their tax obligations to Uncle Sam from A. P. Andrews, administrative officer, Internal Revenue Service, Temple, Texas.

1. Students earning $600 or more during 1965 must file an income tax return, even if the student is claimed as a dependent by his parents.

2. Students with incomes of less than $600 during '65 and who have had income tax withheld, should file a return to get these taxes refunded. Usually, a Form 1040A will do the trick.

3. Single students filing a return should claim one exemption for himself, even if he is also claimed as a dependent by his parents.

4. In a community property state, such as Texas, the total combined income of husband and wife ordinarily is considered one-half attributable to each. Thus, cluding students, may elect to file a joint return by combining their total incomes; or separate returns with each reporting exactly one-half of the combined income.

County Agent's Notes

Seasonal Calving Pays Dividends

By J. D. Moore

Seasonal breeding or seasonal calving has become more and more a common practice as cattlemen have checked their records and found greater profits from calves born in particular months, according to James R. Dickey, Livestock Specialist for the Texas Power & Light Company and a recent visitor to Milam county. Texas A&M research work in beef cattle is a basis for this opinion.

Generally, calves born between October and March are heavier at weaning and can be weaned before the grass shortage and usual price decline. Even a shorter calving season is more economical for some cattlemen. Calves born in December, January and February have the weaning weight advantage yet they are not big enough to be a big drain on the cows in these winter months.

The greater uniformity of calves which result from a shorter calving season simplifies many management practices and improves their marketability.

Bull fertility become more important as the breeding season is shortened. If a bull has only three or even six months to settle all cows he must be highly fertile. Many bulls are capable of settling the cows if given long enough, therefore, could not be called infertile, but they should be called uneconomical. Five to ten dollars could be a small investment to guard against a calf crop loss.

Cattlemen are advised to take a look at plans being proposed by the Milam county agent working with a group of local stockmen and veterinarians. Dr. A.M. Sorensen, Veterinarian in charge of cattle reproduction at Texas A&M, was contacted for an opinion on a workable approach to this matter. Dr. Sorensen agrees with our opinion that interest in a semen evaluation demonstration should come from the local cattlemen. He and Dr. C.M. Patterson agreed to assist local cattlemen with a semen evaluation demonstration to help determine local interest for further work in this direction. If sufficient local interest is shown, local veterinarians would have a basis for their go ahead.

Cattlemen who are not seasonal breeding and fertility testing are advised to take a look at their production records. You might find that your profits can be increased.

Further announcements will be forth coming in regard to a short-course for cattlemen with a program that should be of interest to all those interested in increasing the income from our cattle industry.

Soybeans Become Important Crop On Texas Farms

COLLEGE STATION

Soybeans are rapidly becoming an important cash crop in Texas.

Last year some 80,000 acres of soybeans were harvested in Texas, says R. J. Miears, Extension agronomist at Texas A&M University. Production was estimated at 2.3 million bushels; up 30 per cent from 1964. The average yield per acre in Texas is 28 bushels, one of the higher in the U. S.

Production of soybeans in Texas was formerly centered in the South Plains, according to Miears. But today the acreage is rapidly expanding to other parts of the state, he said.

The Gulf Coast area, Red River Valley and the area along the Brazos River are some of the new sites for soybeans.

Miears said soybeans are grown principally for their seed which is used to produce soybean oil and meal. Most of the meal is used in livestock feed while the oil is used in shortening, margarine and salad oil. Some oil is also used for industrial purposes.

Soybeans can be grown successfully in most irrigated sections of Texas, says Miears. They are adapted to the same general soil and climatic conditions in Texas as corn and cotton and require about the same cultural practices.

They do best on well-drained mellow, fertile loams and sandy loams, but good yields can be obtained on most Texas soils that are properly drained and have water available for supplemental irrigation. In the past, yields over a period of years have been too low or inconsistent for profitable production under dryland conditions.

Moisture requirement is the number one concern with soybeans. The most critical time for moisture is during the flowering stage of growth, says Miears.

Temperature and day length are other important factors affecting the growth and development of the soybean plant. Soybeans should be planted after the minimum soil temperature has reached 65 degrees and after the effective daylight period reaches or exceeds 14 and one-half hours.

Any tax policy that discourages reforestation and good forest management in East Texas, is not in the best public interest, according to the Texas Forestry Association.

GOOD AT MEETING

Johnnie Good of Johnnie Good Air Conditioning CO., Cameron, was one of about 300 southeastern air conditioning dealers attending a meeting in New Orleans at which it was predicted industry volume would top $3 billion in 1966.

Officials of Carrier Air Conditioning Co. co-sponsored the meeting with area distributors.

GUAR MEAL

Guar meal, a high protein (35-45 percent) by-product of the guar seed processing industry, is proving its worth as a protein supplement for feeder cattle. In 3-year tests at Texas A&M University Coastal Bend Experiment Station, Beeville, guar meal has given results comparable to those from other protein supplement sources for fattening steers.

STILL TIME TO TEST SOIL

Weather conditions haven't been ideal this winter for soil sampling and C. D. Welch, who heads up the Texas A&M University labs, says they are "caught up" and can get results back to the landowner in 7 days. And, he adds, there is still time to get samples in and results back before planting time.

Farmers own more than 21 per cent of the commercial forest land of East Texas.

SCD Report

The Gause Community Progress Club is adding soil and water conservation as an item of emphasis to their existing community improvement program. In a recent meeting of the club, John Snell, county agent, and Wayne Mann, SCS conservationist, discussed soil and water conservation and the different programs or people that are available to assist local individuals or groups in their efforts to conserve and beautify the natural resources of the community.

The Taylor Soil Conservation District program was endorsed by the club and the Taylor SCD supervisors have authorized Cameron SCS technicians to give high priority assistance to members of the club and community in planning and applying conservation to the land.

Soil surveys have been completed by SCS soil scientist, Leroy Werchan, on all farms in the area who are members of the Progress Club. This amounts to about 2000 acres on 30 different farms. Cameron SCS technicians are now working with the land owners to assist them in the development of conservation plans on each farm.

The first basic conservation plan developed was on that of the club president, D. S. Smith Jr. Plans also have been developed on farms owned by Mrs. Dorsie Wilson, Clyde Moore and D. S. Smith Sr. Schedules are set up to work with each land owner in the club by July 1 of this year. Conservationists working with the group find the interest high and feel that good progress will be made this year under the leadership of club president D. S. Smith Jr. and other officers of the organization.

HUNTING LEASES

Some 21,000 Texas landowners leased 33 million acres of their holdings last year for hunting purposes and got in return more than $13 million, according to a state summary released by Wallace Klussman, Extension wildlife conservation specialist at Texas A&M.

Over 16,000 of the leases were for deer hunting. The other 5,000 covered the hunting of waterfowl, quail and doves and fishing. Some 3,000 private lakes were leased for fishing at about three-quarters of a million dollars.

One of the advantages of Texas Yellow Pine, according to the Texas Forestry Association, is that it has unlimited freedom of design. It can be laminated in any length.

Only The Beginning?....

The Cen-Tex Symphony Monday played to a capacity crowd of about 350 people in Cameron's first scheduled symphony of recent record.

Groups from Thorndale, Rockdale and other Milam areas joined Cameronites in welcoming the 50-piece orchestra.

An interesting fact is that Cameron's concert drew almost twice as many as Temple's the day before. Some 200 heard the Symphony there in Cultural Activities Center.

Viewing the turnout, Dr. Luck, the conductor, acknowledeged it as proof of the desire for the symphonic form in small towns.

One might note there were a lot of strings in the orchestra, but not one guitar. And the orchestra, composed largely of amateurs from nine Cen Tex communities and cities, made good sound.

Girl Scouts and leaders in Cameron and Rockdale, the sponsoring Three Arts Club and hundreds of appreciators of fine music are to be congratulated for making this cultural gambit a fine success. And Dr. Luck, the Cen-Tex Symphony board and the orchestra deserve thanks for bringing symphony music to Milam County for the first time in a long time.

As one man in the audience said: "This should be only the beginning."

A Definition....

Judgment is wisdom in action.

It can be good or it can be bad. It sometime requires a long time to know which applies. If it is truly wisdom acting, it will be good.

Often, and for reason, judgment and wisdom are associated with age. But it is true that wisdom only comes with age when experience comes slowly. These days, survival is not the only measure.

These days, experience comes quickly. If understood, such years give youth capsule understanding and great responsibility.

If people cannot understand their experience, and do not try, they are young, regardless. Wisdom is not a judge of age.

The test is applying known against new, to see the judgment fall, to risk the act. Not once, but again and again and again, perhaps to prove itself.

Then perhaps comes wisdom and the right to claim it.

A Busy Week....

This is a busy week in Cameron.

Public School Week continues. And the Firemen's Magic Benefit Friday night will climax a week that sees four attractions for various interests in the Milam community.

The Symphony, of course, was a smash hit with an SRO (Standing Room Only) crowd.

A capacity crowd, likewise, filled Methodist Fellowship Hall to hear Alf Jernigan at the annual Chamber banquet, amid a rocket-launch decor.

And numerous school patrons were taking advantage of the annual invitation to visit Cameron District Schools to see what is new there.

It may not have been the busiest week, but as the saying goes, "it'll do until a better one comes along."

Voter Signup 'Going Smoothly'

By Vern Sanford
Austin

Texas' first big free voter signup is under way.

But top state officials still are "fighting mad" because F. B. I. agents were assigned to keep an eye on registration procedures in selected counties.

"It's an insult to every public official and every citizen of Texas," wrote Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr in a letter to U. S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach about the F.B.I. check.

Gov. John Connally agreed and further charged the U.S. Department of Justice with intentionally "instigating trouble" among stormy state political factions.

A three-judge federal court granted Carr's request for a 30-day stay of its order abolishing the poll tax as a voting requirement. Stay was granted in order to allow time to put the new registration law into effect. Therefore, the old poll tax requirement will apply through most local elections this month.

All indications are the initial 15-day free registration (March 3-17) is going smoothly. Interest varies from county to county. Intensive registration drives are under way in the major counties, with all factions trying to sign up more voters who reflect their own views.

Connally and Carr have called on local tax assessor-collectors, who are voting registrars, to provide as many sub-stations and deputies as necessary and to authorize all the overtime needed to assure the widest possible opportunities for voter qualifications.

This is in keeping with instructions of the federal court which conceivably could lengthen the 15-day period if it feels all voters who wanted to register were not given sufficient opportunity.

Carr, meanwhile, has appealed the poll tax invalidation order to the U.S. Supreme Court. However, few feel it will be reversed.

Reversing earlier instructions, the attorney general said Texans over 60 years of age in cities of 10,000 or more who failed to get exemption certificates before January 31 still can sign up free.

Reliable estimates of the number of new voters who will qualify by March 17 have been raised to around 500,000.

CIGARETTE IMPORTS TIGHT

State and federal inspectors are clamping down on imported sales that resulted when the state per-pack tax jumped to 11 cents.

Travelers are being warned that they can bring back no more than two packs of untaxed cigarettes from across the border.

State comptroller's agents, liquor control board inspectors and customs officers are making close checks in an effort to enforce the limit.

Comptroller's figures show the total cigarette tax collected for February as $8,500,000. This is nearly a $2,000,000 increase from February, 1965. Actually, however, last month's stamp sales meant 77,778,963 packages of smokes were purchased. This compares with 83,431,387 at the old rate in February, 1965.

Before the last three-cent-a-pack increase, sales sometimes went to more than 100,000,000 a month.

"We're looking at every avenue we can to protect the revenue of the state," commented Albert Brown, head of the excise and store tax division of the comptroller's office.

TEXAS JOINS COMPACT

Texas will be one of the first states to particiapate in the interstate Compact for Education, Governor Connally has announced.

Compact aims to strengthen the voice of states in formulation of alternative nationwide educational policies.

Connally has indicated he is making a bid for location of the compact's central office in Texas.

An interstate commission composed of seven representatives from each member state will develop alternatives in educational policies gather data on enrollments, conduct research, exchange information with other groups and recommend proposals for financing education.

TWO SELECTED

Amarillo and Beaumont were selected as the sites for two $450,000 pilot Mental Retardation centers sought by 20 Texas communities.

State Board for Mental Health and Mental Retardation said the cost will be shared by state and federal appropriations.

Other cities considered for the centers were Abilene, Austin, Brownwood, Dallas, El Paso, Galveston, Edinburg, Longview, Midland, Odessa, San Antonio, San Angelo, Tyler, Texarkana, Temple, Victoria, Wichita Falls and Waco.

ATTY. GENERAL SPEAKS

A Childress County constable who accepted a $1-a-day job as a deputy tax assessor-collector for a single day during the poll tax drive put on by the Junior Chamber of Commerce did not vacate his office, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr held in an official opinion.

In other opinions Carr concluded:

A driver's license is automatically lost on felony conviction for driving while intoxicated, but is not so forfeited when a person is convicted of misdemeanor DWI and placed on probation (unless probation is revoked).

Driver of a pickup, panel truck, carry-all or station wagon of 2,000 pounds or less capacity does not have to have a commercial operator's license even if vehicle is operated in combination with one or more trailers.

Texas Water Rights Commission is governed by article setting $1,500 maximum for water use permits (and $200 top for additional use under same permit). Request originated with Sulphur River Municipal Water District and City of Irving applications to take water from Cooper Reservoir.

Workmen's Compensation Law does not have permissive application to county-line independent school district (Goose Creek Consolidated ISD) under jurisdiction of a county having population of 1,200,000 or more unless it is wholly located or situated in the county.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear Editar:

I knew a lot of cities were in bad shape financially, still I didn't know it had come to this.

Yet according to an article I read in a newspaper last night which a March wind left spread out against my front door earlier in the day and I pulled off since I was going through anyway, a city of 16,000 in Ohio is so broke and so run-down that a leading resident of the place siad: "A lot of people think we'd be better off if we plowed the whole town under and started from scratch."

You mean to say they've come around to what I've been agruing, that we've got an over-production, a surplus, of cities? And that the only thing to do is to put some of them in the soil bank, or city bank if you want to urbanize the wording? Just take them out of use like a worn-out farm?

If you recall, big city papers and magazines are always arguing the small, marginal farmer ought to be allowed to face economic reality and go under, rather than be supported by Federal aid. Are they now going to argue the same thing about marginal cities? I'm not talking about small towns, resident of the place said: "A cities. The bigger the city, the shorter it is of money.

I know there are a lot of farmers trying to make it on patched-up machinery and inadequate financing, but how many cities you reckon are in the same shape? Name some that aren't.

I tell you, when I read about this big city and that big city trying to make ends meet, patching streets when they ought to be re-paved entirely, needing more policemen and not having the money to hire them, crowding too many kids into school rooms, trying to pacify under-paid teachers, wondering what to do about slums, running low on drinking water, going broke with their transit systems, scrounging for more hospital rooms and nurses, floating one bond issue on top of another, etc., I tell you, when I read about that, I begin to take more favorable attitude toward this grass farm.

Never has the country been more prosperous or the cities more busted. I will give some more thought to this just as soon as I figure out what to do about Viet Nam.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

WASHINGTON

The following letters were recently answered by the Department of State.

Is there any official definition of U.S. understanding of the terms "land reform" and agrarian reform"? We frequently use these terms, but I wonder whether there is any definition of either term which is somewhat official in our foreign policy.

J. S.
Madison, Wisc.

Dear Professor S.:

We have not been able to discover a definition that might be called "official" for the terms. There are some functional terms of reference used in the Alliance for Progress which might be helpful to you. In that context "land reform" is a general description covering all those activities which are directed toward greater availability of land resources for the needs of the people as a whole, and "agrarian reform" is an even broader discription covering all those activities directed toward improvement of the agricultural sector as a whole. Thus, you can see that the working definition is in terms of objectives, rather than in terms of means or mechanisms or institutions. A "land reform" measure might exclude a minimum wage law for agricultural workers and include a land redistribution.

Mischler Bremen, an overseas passenger steamship transportation agency, issued some sort of book, visa, or passport to each passenger coming to the U. S. in 1906 or 1907. It is understood that this book had pertinent information about the passenger. In addition, this book is purported to have some sort of Seal of the German Government which probably consisted of stamps resembling postage stamps.

Was this seal composed in part of postage stamps? If so, were these stamps of any value to stamp collectors? Can identical stamps be obtained today?

M. D.
Royalton, Ill.

Dear Mr. D.:

We gather, on the basis of information received from the Embassy of the Federal Republic of Germany, Washington, D.C., that the seal mentioned in your letter was a tax or fee stamp. This stamp is no longer available. The Department has no information whether such stamps are of value to stamp collectors.

As you know, the Great Seal of the United States of America has two sides, the obverse and the reverse; but the obverse of the Great Seal is used. Why don't you use the reverse?

R.M.W.
Miami Beach, Fla.

Dear Mr. W.:

A seal reverse implies a pendant style or manner of affixing. At the time the Continental Congress adopted the design for the Great Seal, in 1782, pendant seals were still in general use. A pendant seal is a seal in the form (usually) of a disk of wax or similar substance which attaches to the document by ribbons or cords. The disk, like a coin, has two flat surfaces, which afford space for two designs - the obverse and the reverse.

Although as originally enacted and as by law perpetuated, the Great Seal devise includes both obverse and reverse, so far as we now know, the device of the reverse has never been used as a seal. Consistent precedent through 183 years supports the use of the obverse alone as both the Great Seal and the coat of arms of the United States.

And booming sales prove it! More and more people are switching to Ford every day...and no wonder. Fords do things other cars can't. • You can have a radio in any car, but Ford offers a Stereo-Sonic Tape Player option that turns your car into a concert hall with music of your choice. • Most station wagons have a one-way tailgate, but Ford's Magic Doorgate swings out like a door for people and down like a tailgate for cargo. • Most cars offer a choice between manual and automatic shift, but Fairlane's GT/A Sport Shift works both ways. • Visit your Ford Dealer and test-drive a '66 from Ford.

TAKE YOUR PROBLEMS TO CHURCH THIS WEEK

Millions Leave Them There!

A charming picture of a lovely little girl reaching for a Bible. What could possibly be wrong with that?

Here's what!

1. The Bible is on the bottom shelf, hard to get at, which means the family doesn't use it frequently.

2. The Bible she's reaching for is written in grown-up language, too hard for her to understand all by herself.

3. The little girl is alone—and she needs help!

Why should the Bible be on the bottom shelf, and why should this little girl have to seek its truth by herself?

The Church stands ready to help your child—and you! It will help you to understand the Bible and its timeless message of God's undiscourageable love for you, your children and all mankind.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

HORSTMANN BROTHERS

THE FAMILY LAWYER

THE CASE LINCOLN LOST

On a fateful autumn day in Indiana, in the fourth year of the Civil War, Union soldiers entered the home of Lambdin P. Milligan and placed him under arrest.

The soldiers were acting on orders of President Abraham Lincoln, their commander in chief. Milligan, suspected of aiding the Confederate cause, was speedily found guilty by a military court and sentenced to be hung.

But nine days before he was to die, Milligan--invoking the ancient writ of habeas corpus--demanded his freedom. He claimed that, as a civilian, he could not lawfully be punished by a military court.

How far may military power reach in wartime? For a nation dedicated to individual liberty, the issue was a wrenching one.

Lincoln himself argued that, with war convulsing the country, he was justified in taking drastic means to crush disloyalty on the home front.

But there were weighty points too on the other side of the argument. Not only was Milligan a civilian, but he had been arrested in Indiana -- where, at the time, no hostilities were under way.

Most important, Indiana's civil courts were still open for business, ready, willing, and able to hear the charges against Milligan if given the chance.

On April 3, 1866, 18 months after Milligan's arrest, the United States Supreme Court set him free. Holding that the military trial was unlawful, the Court thereby marked out historic limits beyond which martial authority must not go.

Oddly enough, this decision condemning Lincoln's action was written by his own devoted friend, Justice David Davis. Lincoln by then was already dead. Yet it is easy to imagine that if still alive, with the awful pressures of war behind him, he might have applauded the judge's words:

"The Constitution is a law for rulers and people, equally in war and peace, and covers with the shield of its protection all classes of men, at all times, and under all circumstances."

A Northern editor had this comment:

"Above the might of the sword, the majesty of the law is thus raised supreme."

It is easy to imagine Lincoln himself saying amen.

IRS Answers Tax Questions

(Editor's note: This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.)

Q - Our daughter was married during the Christmas holidays. Will we be able to claim her as a dependent for 1965 even though she is now married?

A - If you furnished more than one-half the support of your daughter for the entire calendar year, you may claim her as a dependent unless she files a joint return with her husband, provided the gross-income and citizenship tests are met. If she files jointly, you may not claim her exemption.

Q - I qualify as unmarried head of household. Which tax table should I use?

A - If your adjusted gross income is less than $5,000 and you do not claim itemized deductions use Table B on page 13 of the 1040 instruction booklet otherwise, use Schedule III on page 11.

Q - I retired last after 30 years of government service on a disability pension. Is this taxable to me? I'm 53 years old.

A - Yes, although a disability pension received before the normal retirement age may qualify for the sick pay exclusion. Since U. S. Civil Service employees may retire at age 60 with 30 years of service, your pension qualifies as sick pay and up to $100 a week may be excluded from income. When you reach age 60 your pension will be treated as an annuity for tax purposes.

Q - Just what do you mean by gross income?

A - Any income that the law specifically does not exempt from taxation is gross income. For example, Social Security pensions are expressly made tax exempt by law, and therefore are not added in when figuring gross income.

Q - When you are counting the waiting period for sick pay, do you include the weekends?

A - You count them unless the illness began on a weekend. Then you start your waiting period with the next work day.

Q- Is there any situation where partners in a business could file a joint return with each other?

A - No. The partnership will have to file partnership Form 1065, reporting its income and expenses. Each individual partner has to file his own Form 1040, showing his share of the partnership net income. He may, of course, file his individual return jointly with his wife.

Q - Do you have to be married to claim the child care deduction?

A - No. Women who are single, married, widowed, or divorced as well as men who are widowed divorced, legally separated or those whose wives are incapacitated or institutionalized may use this provision of the tak law.

If you claim this deduction, use Form 2441 to compute the amount of your deduction.

Q - I am a housewife and have no Social Security number. Last year I received a littly money from my uncle's estate and opened up a separate account. Do I need a Social Security number and do I have to report this income since it is under $600.

A - The law requres you to have a Social Security number for tax purposes if you received $10 or more in interest from your account during the year. An application for a number may be obtained from any Internal Revenue Service or Social Security office.

Q - Is there any deduction at all for the college tuition costs I pay for my son?

A - Present tax law does not allow a deduction for this purpose. However, if you borrow money to pay the tuition you may deduct the interest charges.

Q - Are legal fees in an adoption case deductible? My husband and I had a little girl placed with us last year.

A - These legal fees are are considered a personal expense and are not deductible. A legally adopted child may be claimed as a dependent, however, if the other necessary dependency tests are met.

Q - I'm self-employed and don't need a Social Security number. Why should I bother to get one just for my tax return?

A - The law requires that each taxpayer have a tax account identifying number. For individuals, the Social Security numbering system is used.

Besides the penalty you may have to pay for not having a number on your tax return, no refund check can be issued without this identification.

Q - I had to sell my home at a loss last year when I was transerred by my company. Can I deduct my loss?

A - No, the law considers this a personal expense.

Q - I'm 65 but my wife is not. Does that mean all my medical expenses are deductible while hers are subject to a 3 percent limitation?

A - When one member of a couple is 65 then all of their qualifying medical expenses become fully deductible. This means that your wife's medical expenses are fully deductible just as yours are.

SELF ANALYSIS QUIZ

Do You Break The Basic Rules of Good Fashion?

by Jane Sherrod Singer

Fads and styles change with practically each new issue of fashion magazines. There are some basic do's and don'ts that should not be overlooked. What would you say about the following?

	TRUE	FALSE
1. Plastic see-through purses and shoes are a very fashionable development of modern technology.	( )	( )
2. Pins are a helpful way to dress up fur or cloth coats.	( )	( )
3. Hair curlers ,hair rolls and bobby pins have become quite acceptable on the street or for shopping.	( )	( )
4. A full-length mirror in your home is important.	( )	( )
5. Short coats, either cloth or fur, should be worn over narrow skirts, never full ones.	( )	( )
6. Rhinestone necklaces and bracelets are quite acceptable for luncheon dates.	( )	( )
7. Slacks, carcoats and/or kerchiefs should never be worn for shopping.	( )	( )
8. It is quite smart to combine prints and plaids, prints with prints as long as the colors are harmonious.	( )	( )
9. High heels should be worn with trousers only when the pants are chic hostess pajamas.	( )	( )
10. Extremely short or exaggeratedly long skirts are excellent if you wish to emphasize a pair of good legs.	( )	( )
11. Hats made of feathers and/or flowers are tasteful for shopping.	( )	( )
12. Short socks should only be worn with flat-heeled shoes.	( )	( )
13. Low-necked dresses should only appear in public after five o'clock.	( )	( )
14. Small women should wear jewelry.	( )	( )

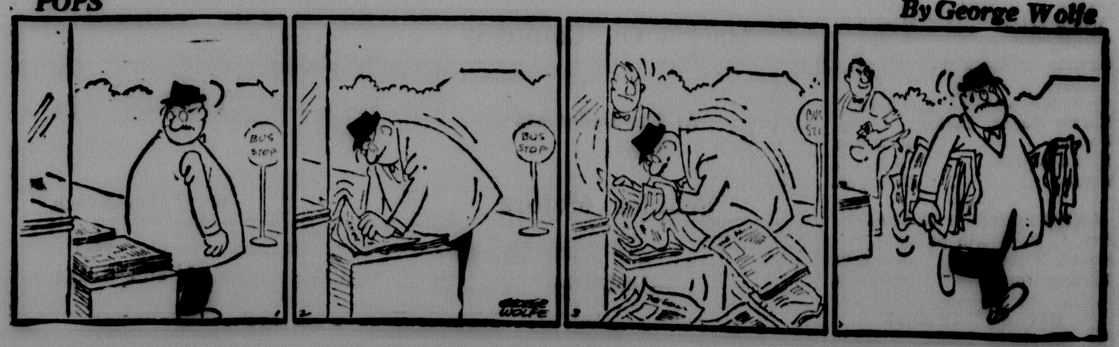

ANSWERS:

1. FALSE. See through accessories have never been considered.
sidered "smart", and can only possibly be worn after five or with resort clothing.
2. FALSE. Pins, especially glitter pins, should never be worn on coats. Tailored pins can, however, occasionally dress up a suit coat. Keep the glitter for after five.
3. FALSE. NEVER. You wouldn't brush your teeth on the street. Curlers are just as much a part of your private toilet.
4. TRUE. A full-length mirror will tell you if your skirt curves too tightly in the rear or wrinkles in the front, if your slip shows, or your stocking seams are crooked.
5. TRUE. Short coats combined with full skirts creates a short, fat appearance.
6. FALSE. Glittering jewelry, with the exception of a diamond engagement ring or wedding band, should never be worn during the day.
7. FALSE. This type of clothing is fine for the country or sport occasions, but not in stores or on the city streets.
8. FALSE. Plaids and prints should, at best, be chosen with care and certainly never combined
9. TRUE. Any form of pants, from shorts to capris, call for sandals or flat shoes with only the one exception—elaborate trousers worn in the home
10. FALSE. While each woman should select the skirt length that is most becoming to her figure and best adapted to her activities, a skirt that is exaggeratedly shorter than the fashion gives an appearance of cheapness; one too long looks old and dowdy.
11. FALSE. Hats made of flowers or feathers should be kept for teas, cocktail parties or a special matinee at the theatre.
12. TRUE. Any stocking that does not cover the entire leg should be reserved for sport occasions.
13. TRUE. To be on the safe side, wear low-necked dresses for late afternoon or evening. The exception, of course are summer cotton play clothes.
14. FALSE. The size and amount of jewelry should be in proportion to the woman who is wearing it.
